

RETURN OF NON QUALIFYING SCORES - QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

QUESTION	ANSWER
Why is Wales Golf invoking Clause 4.5/8.12?	Wales Golf has made this decision in order to promote the integrity of the system, and maintain player confidence in handicapping. Every player should have confidence that they hold an equal opportunity to achieve success in a competition. A number of incidents in the last few years have highlighted that players must hold the responsibility with regards to notifying their home club as to their performance away from home in Non-Qualifying competitions where the results would not otherwise be known to the committee. Players must make every effort to maintain a handicap which reflects their current playing ability.

Who is responsible for reporting 'away' scores?	The individual player has an obligation to report away scores from competitions, and each Club should establish a process to enable this to be done. In addition, where a Club arranges/administers an event, Wales Golf requests that Club to advise players' home clubs of the top five. (optional)
What responsibility falls on the club?	The responsibility is with the player, the club are only required to give the players a facility to record the scores returned. It is then up to the club to decide what action they are going to take following the return.
How should scores returned be used?	4BBB and Team competitions are not suitable for handicapping purposes: but if the same individuals or teams keep winning or coming near the top of leader boards at events away from home, that should at least indicate to their Club Handicapping Officials that further investigations are required – and the only way to achieve that is by asking for all such scores to be reported.

What sanction does a Club have if it learns that a player has been playing in competitions at away clubs, but not reporting scores?	A Club may suspend a member's handicap under CONGU rule 24.1 where that player does not comply with his or her obligations as imposed by CONGU. We would see that as a last resort; and clubs in the first instance should firmly remind players of their responsibilities under the CONGU UHS.
In a team event, an individual may not have holed out on every hole or contributed to the score, does this result still have to be reported?	Yes. The team score should be reported through the process established and be returned for consideration by the handicap committee at the annual review but cannot of itself be used to change a player's handicap.
Where a society plays an individual competition at a club, does the Club have any responsibility to return scores?	No – where the Club is not running the event, it does not have any obligation to make enquiries or return scores. However, the individual club member has an obligation under the CONGU rules.
Do scores played in society events have to be recorded?	If the player has played in the event using his/her CONGU handicap UNDER COMPETITION PLAY CONDITIONS, then the score must be reported.
A group from our club has an annual trip to Spain, when they play a variety of singles and team competitions. Should they return their scores?	No. As the scores are not over a course measured in accordance with CONGU requirements there is no obligation to return scores.

Do we need to make our Saturday swindle into a qualifying competition?	No. The intent is not to affect social golf. However, Clubs should be aware of performances in swindles such that, in the annual review, handicap committees can take into account circumstances where a member of a swindle regularly outplays their official handicap.
With a notification of an away score, do we have to ascertain a CSS?	No. For team competitions and individual events (such as society golf), it is not feasible to assess a CSS and, therefore, the requirement is that the SSS of the course played is recorded.
Do I need to provide results of a match play competition played at an away course?	No. It is very difficult to establish player performance from a match play result, as the player's performance may not be reflected in the result.
A player has reported 2 or 3 Better Ball Scores which are 40+ points, should I be adjusting their handicaps?	No. It is unlikely that any handicap need to be adjusted directly as a result of the submission of such scores, especially with such a low number. The Scores are only intended to be additional evidence
